Abstract

The aim of the study is to see the effect of gender and social category on life satisfaction and to see the correlation of suicidal tendency with life satisfaction. The sample consisted of six experimental groups containing 60 subjects in each group. Life Satisfaction Scale developed by Alam Srivastava and Attitude towards Suicide by D.S Sisodia and Vibhuti Bhatnagar were used. Results showed that there is higher level of life satisfaction in males as compared to females. Life satisfaction is found to be negatively correlated with suicidal tendency.

Key words: Youth, Life Satisfaction and Suicidal Tendency
